

Although I would still prefer a constitutional amendment so that an independent commission would do this redistricting

In the absence of this a map that would result in a legislature with similar percentages of Democrats and Republicans as their percentages of the state at large and also one that lets voters select their representatives rather than the vice versa

Respectfully yours

Richard Prince